APPLES SCARCE AND PEARS OUT OF SIGHT IN WHEAT MARKET

Tin Also Weakens; Lead and High Prices in Liverpool and Bartlett's Almost a Total Failure and Apples Are Very High Priced.

> It is an off season for apples this year. One dealer along market row yesterday said that in some previous years he had sold them as low as 75c a bushel, but that this fall they bring $2 a bushel and people are glad to get them at that price. One dealer has just ordered eight carloads, which he will have to sell at that figure. The apples, as a rule, make a beautiful appearance all along the row, but they are expensive and are not obtainable in any large quantities. The late frosts of last spring froze many of the buds on the trees and made the yield a small one in consequence. Most of the apples received here come from California.
> The crop of the lusclous Bartlett pears has been practically a total failure. With the exception of a few scattering ones here and there along the stands, these pears are not to be had. They sell for 15c a pound, and if you want one to eat it will cost 5c. There is no other variety of pear raised that can compare with the Bartlett for all-around purposes. They are excellent for eating between meals and for table purposes. No other pears make such delicious preserves, nor such good sauces. There will be a few fortunate housekeepers this year who will have several Jars of preserved Bartletts securely tucked at the back of the top shelf, and they will be taken down when the minister comes to dinner for just a taste; also when Uncle John drops in for a little visit on his way to New York. The family preserves, however, will be made from the big "Flemish Beauty" CHICAGO, Oct 2—Wheat prices on the local exchange advanced more than 1 cent per bushel today because of higher prices in the principal European grain centers, At the close the December delivery was up 26 to. Corn was down 26 to. Oats were a shade lower and provisions 140 to lower.
>
> Sentiment in the wheat pit was bullish all day though the volume of trade was small. The chief bullish factors were higher prices in Liverpool and on the continent and rainy weather in the Northwest. The buying was chiefly by local shorts while the selling was mainly by longs. The break in corn caused a weak feeling in the day, but the close was firm. December opened 16 to 16 to 16 to higher, at 99 ft 19 to. And advanced to $1.00 and closed at 99 to. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to $33,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 963,000 bushels.

578 cars last week and 831 cars one year ago.

The corn market was steady early in the day, but later sentiment became extremely bearish because of the warm weather prevailing over the corn belt. The market closed weak and close to the lowest point. December opened unchanged to $c$ higher, at $$$\\ \text{25} and the "Beauty of Anjou." They are selling for 30c a peck and can be obtained in almost any quantities desired. They are the atrong, hardy fellows and are seldorn injured by anything short of a cyclone.

The large pink-cheeked freestone peaches continue to come in, too, and several dealers received fresh shipments yesterday. Two pounds are given for 25c. That is not an extravagant price, surely, and the preserves will add a relish to the evening meals this winter as a change from the staple pears.
